

Día de Muertos

Pan de Muerto & Calaveras

Día de Muertos is a time to remember deceased loved ones with positivity and festivities. Celebrants gather to share food and drink with their deceased loved ones. Traditional foods include pan de muerto (a decorative sweet bread) and calaveras (sugar skulls), and drinks typically include tequila, pulque, and chocolate.

Engage in the celebration by learning how to make your own pan de muerto at home. First, watch a short video on pan de muerto here. Then, follow this recipe or purchase pan de muerto from Algeria Mexicana, Trigales Bakery, or Tino's Bakery in Appleton, WI. Enjoy!
